

To whom it may concern,

It is my pleasure to enthusiastically recommend Lorena Martinez Lobato for her project/marketing manager online services. She established a commitment to excellence on the first day of the job and oversaw many successful company projects from the development stage to completion. I believe Lorena's skills, commitment, experience and personal values will suit any project and/or company that requires her services.

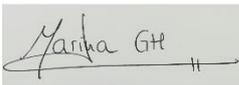

My name is Marina Garcia Hortal, and I am Doctor of Physiology of Exercise, Life and Health Coach, Yoga and Dance instructor and young entrepreneur of the newly online business Despierta en Vida. I have worked with a variety of project managers online and offline over the past ten years. I have to say that Lorena is the most efficient, kind and creative project/marketing manager I have had the pleasure to work with. She applies her willingness to learn and strong work ethics in everything she does.

Whilst working at the new business Despierta en Vida from July 2021 to August 2022, she was able to contribute to the successful launching of a new online program from beginning to end. Her organisational skills are very impressive, and Lorena's interpersonal skills made her an amazing addition to the team. She is also a wonderful person. She is always looking at the positive and bright side of things bringing solutions to any problem. She not only became the best project/marketing manager I have ever worked with, but she is now also a lovely and trustworthy friend.

I am confident that Lorena would be a great fit to any company/project that she chooses to endeavour and I am sure that Lorena will continue to succeed in all that she does.
